The terrorist watch list is used by the U.S. government to monitor potentially violent individuals and groups. Those on the list are blocked from actions that could put others at risk, such as air travel — yet they are still not prohibited from purchasing or possessing firearms. Contact your U.S. representative and call on them to introduce legislation that prevents people on the terrorist watch list from buying guns.

Take action at 31bullets.suntimes.com/20