BULLET 31 OF 31: DESIGN SAFETY STANDARDS

Unlike every other consumer product produced in the U.S., firearms and ammunition are exempted from design safety standards, resulting in unintentional shootings. In March, U.S. Rep. Robin Kelly introduced legislation to weaken the exemption by allowing the Consumer Product Safety Commission to issue rules for firearms and ammunition. Contact your representatives to support this bill and to urge more rigorous safety standards.

Take action at 31bullets.suntimes.com/31

There are an estimated 10 billion bullets sold in the U.S. every year. That’s 31 bullets for every man, woman and child. The Chicago Sun-Times is arming people with knowledge, education and social ammunition to fight gun violence. 31 bullets to counter the negative effects of the actual bullets.